

MARINE ORNITHOLOGY

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS

Marine Ornithology (formerly Cormorant) publishes full-length papers, short communications (usually less than three printed pages long) and book reviews on all aspects of seabirds and marine ornithology throughout the world. Contributions dealing with coastal or inland birds such as gulls, terns, cormorants and pelicans will also be considered. Authors do not have to be members of the African Seabird Group. All contributions (except for book reviews) are submitted to at least two referees. If revised manuscripts are not received by the editor within six months of author's receipt of editorial and referee's reports, they will be treated as new submissions. Contributions are normally published in order of acceptance. All contributions must be in English (using English, not American spelling). However, a summary in another language may be included, if desired. Full-length papers must include a brief summary; short communications do not require a summary and usually do not include subheads. Contributions are received on the understanding that they contain novel work, conducted by the author, which has not been published, or is not under consideration for publication, elsewhere.

Manuscripts, submitted in triplicate, should be typed, double-spaced, on one side of good quality bond paper with wide margins. Dot-matrix printed copy should be avoided and is only acceptable if in NLQ (near letter quality) mode with a new printer ribbon and it photocopies well. The style of layout used in Marine Ornithology from Volume 23 (1995) should be followed carefully. Please inform the editor when submitting manuscripts if you can supply the final version on an IBM-compatible computer disk, preferably using one of the word-processing languages Microsoft Word or WordPerfect, on 3.5" diskettes. Final submissions on disk are encouraged since they save both time and money and reduce the chances of errors creeping in.

Tables must be typed on separate sheets of paper and numbered. Figures must be drawn and lettered to publication quality and must not be larger than page size. Photographs must be black and white, good quality and of high contrast. Figures and photographs must be labelled on their back with a soft pencil and figure captions provided on a separate sheet of paper.

References should be listed in alphabetical order. Especial care must be taken to ensure that they are written in the style used in Marine Ornithology.

Metric units, decimal points and the 24-hour clock are to be used and dates expressed in the form 31 January 1947. Following Fowler, hyphens are used sparingly, especially in bird names.

Page proofs will be sent to the senior author and must be carefully checked and returned within 48 hours of receipt. Fifty reprints are supplied free to the senior author who is responsible for their distribution. Additional reprints may be purchased if ordered when returning proofs.

All material, except book reviews, should be submitted to J. Cooper, Editor, Marine Ornithology, P.O. Box 34113, Rhodes Gift 7707, South Africa.

Reviews, and books, monographs and proceedings for review should be sent to E.J. Woehler, Review Editor, c/o Australian Antarctic Division, Channel Highway, Kingston 7050, Tasmania, Australia.
