

REVIEWERS FOR THE AUK, 1976-77

The scientific and scholarly quality of a journal results largely from the efforts of the many individuals who serve as reviewers of manuscripts. As a new editor I have especially welcomed and profited from their counsel, and among my most satisfying experiences have been the many fruitful interactions we have shared. Listing these individuals below only hints at the extent of my gratitude to them; many authors, even some whose manuscripts have not been accepted for publication, have also indicated how much they appreciate the perceptive and fair reviews their efforts have received.

Individuals who have contributed reviews of two or more manuscripts are indicated by an asterisk.
