

Photo: Brian Morin

ERRATUM

Great Black-backed Gulls

In our recent article on the nesting of Great Black-backed Gulls on Lake Erie (Ontario Birds 25 [3]: 124-132), we overlooked a critical nest record for this water body. Peck and James (1994, Ontario Birds 12 [1]: 11-18) reported a single Great Black-backed Gull nest on Mohawk Island (Haldimand-Norfolk County) in 1991 (p.12), making this the first nest record for this species on Lake Erie. Therefore, single nests on Mohawk Island in 1991, 1993 and 1996 would be the first, second and fourth records, respectively, for Lake Erie; single nests at the Port Colborne Breakwall in 1995, 1996 and 1999-2001 constitute the third, fifth and subsequent nest records, respectively. We are grateful to George Peck for bringing this record to our attention, and apologize for any inconvenience our omission has caused.

Sincerely,
Dave Moore, Ralph Morris and Chip Weseloh