

CONTENTS

| | | |
|--|-------------------------------|-----|
| BIRDING THE IPSWICH RIVER WILDLIFE SANCTUARY | Jim MacDougall | 288 |
| PROFILES OF NEW ENGLAND ORNITHOLOGISTS: RUTH P. EMERY, THE ORIGINAL VOICE OF AUDUBON | James Baird | 299 |
| BOOK REVIEW: The Search for the Pink-Headed Duck by Rory Nugent | Mark Lynch | 302 |
| FIELD NOTES FROM HERE AND THERE | | |
| Decoy Behavior of Golden-winged Warblers at Nest | Robert C. Bradbury | 306 |
| Hummingbirds in a Hurricane | Richard F. Graefe | 307 |
| Forster's Tern Nesting in Plum Island Marshes | David Rimmer and Russ Hopping | 308 |
| Leucistic Black-capped Chickadee | Michael Onyon | 309 |
| The Spruce Grouse | William E. Davis, Jr. | 310 |
| LATE WINTER-SPRING WORKSHOPS 1992 | | 312 |
| SUBMISSION OF ARTICLES TO BIRD OBSERVER | | 313 |
| FIELD RECORDS: JULY 1991 | | 315 |
| FIELD RECORDS: AUGUST 1991 | | 322 |
| INDEX TO VOLUME 19, 1991 | | 334 |
| ABOUT THE COVER: Bohemian Waxwing | | 336 |
| MEET OUR COVER ARTIST: Barry W. Van Dusen | | 337 |
| AT A GLANCE | Wayne R. Petersen | 338 |
| Cover Illustration: Bohemian Waxwings by Barry W. Van Dusen | | |

ARTICLES APPEARING IN OUR NEXT ISSUE

In the February 1992 Bird Observer issue, John Kricher and Ted Davis will tell us where to find birds in the Edwards Plateau region of Texas, a popular birding spot in the spring and also known for two endangered species, the Black-capped Vireo and the Golden-cheeked Warbler. Robert Askins writes on the effect of forest fragmentation on migratory songbird populations. David Rimmer reports on the status of recovery and research efforts on the Piping Plover, placed on the U.S. Endangered Species List in January 1986. Finally, Bruce Hallett reviews Western Birding By Ear, by Richard Walton and Robert Lawson, and Chris Floyd reviews Birds of Prey in Connecticut, by Gene Billings.