

EDITOR'S NOTE:

A last minute decision (reached after the rest of this issue was already printed) moved us to do the Minutes in this, rather than next issue, as originally scheduled. We felt that with the merger of journals, you should have the Minutes as soon as possible, even though we didn't receive it until it was really too late for inclusion in this issue.

Because of this, the page numbers cannot be amended anymore to include the Minutes. Hence, pages are numbered in small roman numerals so as not to confuse our people who make index listings.

The original minutes were typed for copy by the Secretary or her assistant, however, since we did not get an original copy, and were unable to have negatives made from the yellow Xerox we received, we had to retype the Minutes from the copy we received. I thank Mr. and Mrs. Chris N. Rose, very much for typing for copy and proofreading same, while I was on vacation banding birds at Kiptopeke, Va. It's great to have help you can depend on when you are in a pinch.
