Ridgefield National Wildlife Refuge

■ Decoys and Dogs—Decoys and calls should be used to bring birds into ideal shooting range. When setting out decoys, place the outer decoy 40 yards from the blind. This will help you judge when to shoot and result in fewer cripples and more birds in your bag. Use of retrievers is encouraged. A good dog will speedily retrieve your birds and lessen disturbance to flying birds in the area.

■ Check-Out—Please close the lid on the blind as you leave, and pack out your garbage. Hunters are required to check out of the area at the end of their hunt.

■ Conduct—Each hunter is expected to respect the rights of others. Interference with another's hunting, long-range shooting and unsportsmanlike behavior could be cause for immediate revocation of hunting privileges.

Handicapped Hunters—The refuge covers a variety of habitats including rough, uneven terrain, deep waters and dense stands of vegetation. Hunting difficulty varies by blind, and hunters should examine their own abilities and limitations before using the refuge. Handicapped persons should hunt with a partner and consult the refuge manager prior to the hunt for suggestions for hunting the area safely. One blind with wheelchair access is available.

Injuries and Accidents—occurring on the Refuge must be reported immediately to the Refuge Manager.

Information—Contact U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 1309 N.E. 134th St., Vancouver, WA 98665. Telephone: (206) 696-7796.
