Supplement to Volume 36 - Foreword

We had originally planned to use the Supplement for Minutes, By-Laws, and informal material about the meeting. We neglected to take into account that many key EBBM people take their vacations in August, and as such, we weren't able to gather all the required materials for this particular issue.

We don't think you'll be too disappointed. By doing some fast re-arranging, we can still use the Supplement and bring you this extra issue in 1973. Thank's to your generosity, we had sufficient material on hand at this early stage that we could proceed with our plans.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to get any issue out, on time, because of the ever slowing delivery of third-class bulk mail. EBBM cannot afford to send the magazines out in any other way, so we must allow more time for mailing and less time for preparation.

We've decided to change a few things for 1974, to accommodate these delays to a certain extent. We're again planning on five issues (one of which will be shorter than the normal quarterly issues). Since the 1974 meeting will be in June, the "Supplement" (issue #6) in 1974 will be scheduled after the four regular issues are published.

Since deadlines and mailing of previous issues always seem to overlap (and again, that's entirely due to the delays in delivery), here is the schedule for 1974 in its entirety:
