WANTED.—Position as field naturalist or collector. Twenty-seven years of age. Graduate in zoölogy from leading scientific college. Experienced in the collection and preservation of all forms of natural history specimens, especially plants, birds and animals. Expert photographer. Two years' experience as collector in Arctic regions. Will guarantee that I can prepare skins of the fattest sea birds so that they will never show a trace of grease. Can furnish letters of recommendation from foremost scientific and professional men. Would especially like to join Arctic or Antarctic expedition. I invite correspondence with parties who would be interested in sending a cheap expedition to probably the richest floral and faunal and least known regions in Arctic America which promises many new and valuable results. Salary no particular object.

BIRD-LORE FOR 1900

Will contain papers by John Burroughs, Bradford Torrey, Robert Ridgway, William Brewster, C. Hart Merriam, T. S. Roberts, E. A. Mearns, and others, and Captain Reynaud, in charge of the Homing Pigeon Service of the French Army, will present a new theory of bird migration, based on his experiments with homing pigeons.

Attention will be paid to the bird-life of the countries made prominent by recent events, Tappan Adney writing of the birds of the Klondike, H. W. Henshaw, of the birds of Hawaii, L. M. McCormick, of Philippine birds, and F. M. Chapman of Cuban birds, while A. J. Campbell, the authority on Australian birds, will describe the wonderful habits of the Bower Birds of Australia, accompanying his paper by actual photographs of their bowers from nature.

For Teachers there will be a series of papers on teaching ornithology, in which Olive Thorne Miller, Prof. Lynds Jones, of Oberlin, Marion C. Hubbard, of Wellesley, and others, will describe their methods of instruction.

Students will be glad to avail themselves of the assistance offered by BIRD-LORE's 'Advisory Council,' a new idea in self-educational ornithology, which places students in direct communication with an authority on the bird-life of their region who has consented to aid them. Among special papers for students will be Ernest Seton-Thompson's 'How to Know the Hawks and Owls,' illustrated by the author; F. A. Lucas' 'Tongues of Birds,' also illustrated by the author, and John Rowley will describe a recently invented camera, which opens new fields in bird photography.

The Illustrations will be of the same high character as those for which BIRD-LORE has already become distinguished.

THE CONDOR, (Bulletin of the Cooper Ornithological Club.) (A Bi-Monthly Illustrated Magazine of Pacific Coast Ornithology.)

Edited by CHESTER BARLOW, associated with HENRY REED
TAYLOR and HOWARD ROBERTSON.

Subscription: $1 per year.

THE CONDOR enters upon its second volume with the ability to promise the publication of one of the newsiest and most valuable bird volumes for 1900. Added to a successful initial year are numerous points of improvement which subscribers will appreciate. A number of new bird descriptions will be found in Volume II.

The January, 1900, issue consists of 24 pages and ten portraits of Californian workers, including the first published portrait of Mr. Lyman Belding, together with his personally written narrative: "A Part of My Experience in Collecting." Also a noteworthy article on "The varied Thrush in Summer" (describing its nesting) by Jos. Grinnell. The issue is replete with fresh articles from field workers, together with the usual general notes and shorter papers.

THE CONDOR is issued promptly on the 15th of each alternate month. $1 per year; sample copy, 20 cents.

For sample copy address C. BARLOW, Editor, Santa Clara, Cal. Subscriptions should be sent to DONALD A. COHEN, Alameda, Cal.

Volume I complete can be supplied at $1, while it lasts.
