I am not aware that this species has been before detected in Georgia. I found it once in South Carolina, many years ago, and a specimen was secured there by Mr. Alfred Cuthburt. It is now in the collection of Dr. E. E. Murphy of Augusta, Ga.--W. J. HOXIE, Savannah, Ga.

A Snowy Owl in New Jersey.— A Snowy Owl (Nyctea nyctea) was shot on the line between Orange and South Orange, New Jersey, on November 19, 1910. The bird was secured by a man of the name of Adams, in the employ of Mr. L. Bamberger, of 602 Center Street, and was placed for mounting in the hands of Mr. Ray Baldwin, a taxidermist of Newark. A letter written to the latter asking for particulars as to whether the bird was unusually white, as indicated by Mr. Adams, failed to elicit any statement.— B. S. BOWDISH, Demarest, N. J.

Northern Pileated Woodpecker in Massachusetts.— Mr. Henry P. Meade has kindly given to me a Northern Pileated Woodpecker (Phlæoto-mus pileatus abieticola) which he shot in Harvard, Mass., October 15, 1910. It is a young male. This is an extremely rare bird in this locality.— JOHN E. THAYER, Lancaster, Mass.

Breeding of the Raven in Pennsylvania.— The extreme and increasing rarity of the Northern Raven (Corvus corax principalis) in the eastern United States makes it advisable to place on record the nesting of a pair in Center County, Pennsylvania. In 1909 the nest was found on a ledge or shelf in a nearly perpendicular wall of rock in a gap in the mountains. In middle April, when found, it held three full-fledged young. In 1910 a nearly finished nest was found on the same cliff on February 19, and the set of five eggs was collected on March 1. A second set of five eggs was found on March 16, and Mr. D. E. Harrower found a third set of four on April 10.

In early May (6–7), 1910, while back in Huntington County, I saw a pair of Ravens with a young one scarcely able to fly and easily distinguishable by its weak, crow like notes.— RICHARD C. HARLOW, State College, Pa.

Clarke's Nutcracker in Illinois.— While in Milwaukee recently, Mr. Shrosbree, chief taxidermist of the Milwaukee Public Museum, told me of the capture of a specimen of Nucifraga columbiana by his brother, near Chicago. Upon inquiry of Mr. Frank Shrosbree, he informed me as follows: "I shot the Clarke's Nutcracker on the 9th of October, 1894, at Gross Point, Illinois." Gross Point is a small German settlement in Cook County, about 15 miles northwest of Chicago. This is, I believe, the first record of this species for Illinois.— HENRY K. COALE, Highland Park, Ill.

Evening Grosbeak (Hesperiphona vespertina) at Lyons, N. Y.— As this bird is such a very rare winter visitant in this section, I take the liberty
