

THE AUK

A Quarterly Journal of Ornithology

ORGAN OF THE AMERICAN ORNITHOLOGISTS' UNION

For publication in 'The Auk,' articles or notes must present material that is of significance to ornithologists and that has not been published elsewhere. All manuscripts should be typewritten, double spaced, with wide margins. Titles should be brief. Terminal bibliographies are used as a rule for long articles. Only works actually cited in the text are to be included in these bibliographies; works not so cited will be deleted by the editors. Where fewer than five references to literature are made, they may be inserted in parentheses in the text. References in manuscript for 'General Notes' should be in the text. Consult issues of 'The Auk' since January, 1949, for style of citation. Long articles should be summarized briefly. Footnotes, Roman numerals, and ruled tables are to be avoided. Acknowledgments belong in the text. Line drawings must be in India ink on white paper or drawing board; usually these should be planned for at least one-half reduction when printed. Thus, details and lettering must be correspondingly large. Legends must be brief. Photographs must be hard, glossy prints of good contrast. Common and scientific names of North American birds should follow the A.O.U. Check-List (Fifth Edition), except in taxonomic papers giving critical discussions and in justified special cases.

Proofs of all articles and notes will be sent to authors. Reprints from articles, notes, and other items are to be paid for by the author. These must be ordered from the Editor on the blanks sent with the proof and must be returned with the proof. Printed covers can be furnished at additional cost.

All articles and notes submitted for publication and all books and publications intended for review should be sent to the Editor:

DONALD S. FARNER, Department of Zoology, Washington State University, Pullman, Washington.

Says:

"The competitive side of bird watching appeals to many field observers making it something of a game of ornithological golf. Audubon Field Notes gives you the other fellows' scores. And the more critical researcher finds in Audubon Field Notes a great deal of field data assembled in one place and screened for authenticity by regional editors as well as by the Audubon and U. S. Fish and Wildlife editorial staffs."

THE KIRTLAND'S WARBLER

by HAROLD MAYFIELD

More about this attractive member of an attractive family—rare and perhaps vanishing—than is known about almost any other American bird. Based on 22 years of field study, in the jack-pine regions of Michigan and in the Bahamas, by the late Josselyn Van Tyne and the author. The sections on cowbird parasitism and on forest fire influences are of unusual biological interest.

Color plate by Roger Tory Peterson.
