

THE AGE OF BIRDS

Alan Feduccia

In a splendid combination of text and illustrations, Feduccia traces the evolution of birds, from their emergence in the Age of Reptiles to their endless variety today.

Must reading for lovers of natural history as well as serious "birders."

The Great Gray Owl

Phantom of the Northern Forest

A Smithsonian Nature Book

ROBERT W. NERO

Photography by Robert R. Taylor

In this definitive study of the natural history of the Great Gray Owl (Strix nebulosa), Robert Nero gives first-hand descriptions of hunting, courtship, and nesting behavior previously unrecorded. It is also a highly personalized account of the author's feelings about observing and working with this beautiful bird of compelling appearance and behavior. A large number of masterful photographs in color and black and white vividly show Great Gray Owls from nesting through winter foraging, and bring the spirit of this bird to readers through every season of the year.

Robert Nero, currently a wildlife specialist with the Manitoba Department of Natural Resources, has written extensively on natural history subjects. Robert Taylor is a free-lance photographer whose photographs have appeared in numerous magazines, books, and newspapers.

Migrant Birds in the Neotropics

Ecology, Behavior, Distribution and Conservation

Fifth book in the Symposia of the National Zoological Park series

ALLEN KEAST and EUGENE S. MORTON, Editors

Annually millions of North American migratory birds converge on the tropics. How are they accommodated into areas that are already the world's most species rich? How do they divide living space? What do they eat? How do they interact with each other in these southern wintering grounds? Why do they go to specific localities instead of just diffusing randomly over the tropical latitudes? How did the whole pattern of migration arise? Should we continue to take these migrants for granted, or are they in danger? These and other equally intriguing questions are addressed in this book, which contains original research by nearly every authority working today on New World tropical avian ecology.

Allen Keast is professor of biology at Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, Canada. Eugene Morton is research zoologist at the National Zoological Park, Smithsonian Institution.

Handbook of the Birds of Europe, The Middle East, and North Africa Volume II: Hawks to Bustards

Edited by STANLEY CRAMP, K. E. L. SIMMONS, and others.

From reviews of Volume I:

"A treasure trove of knowledge, and major addition to the well-furnished ornithological library."—American Birds.

"A delight to use. . . . The western Palearctic handbook should be of interest to both professional and amateur ornithologists."—American Scientist.

"Should be a useful reference work for decades. . . . An excellent, authoritative work."—Library Journal.

"This is a magnificent volume."—Choice.

"This volume will, deservedly, have a very wide appeal."—The Quarterly Review of Biology.

The second volume of this indispensable handbook contains descriptions of 97 species. Each species is fully described with sections on field characteristics, habitat, distribution, mortality and longevity, and population (with maps showing breeding and wintering areas), social pattern and behavior, breeding, food, voice, plumages, moults, measurements, weights, structure, and geographical variation. Fifty-six color plates illustrate the species.

Volume II: Hawks to Bustards

1980 702 pp.; 300 line drawings; 56 color plates $85.00

Volume I: Ostrich to Ducks

1978 732 pp.; 350 line drawings; 72 color plates $85.00

A Complete Checklist of the Birds of the World

RICHARD HOWARD and ALICK MOORE, Trustees of the Child-Beale Wildlife Trust. This important new reference book for both the professional and amateur ornithologist contains an up-to-date and accurate list of the birds of the world down to the subspecific level. It includes the geographical distribution of each subspecies as well as the common name where possible, in order to increase awareness of the taxonomic system of orders, families, genera, species, and subspecies which the authors believe essential for a better understanding of the study of birds.

Behavioral Mechanisms in Ecology

Douglass H. Morse

"This synthesis and integration of behavioral ecology into a unified framework will . . . prove extremely valuable to many evolutionary and ecologically-oriented biologists, as well as to any serious student of animal biology. The clear, uncomplicated style of the writing will assure its accessibility to any educated reader."

THE ISLAND WATERFOWL

In this reference book, Dr. Milton W. Weller studies conditions for those birds which are isolated on remote islands and their ways of adaptation to reduced mobility, different food sources, modified competition for resources, and severe climatic conditions. Weller's research provides clues to the function of common biological characters of continental waterfowl otherwise taken for granted.

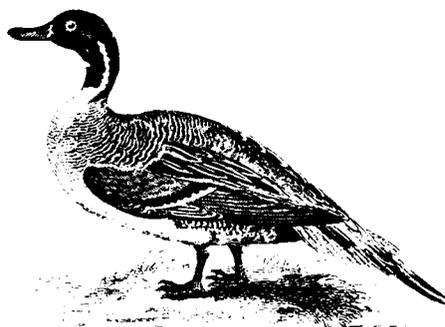

His observations of their ecology, breeding, biology, and behavior help us to understand problems of habitat use, island biogeography, food exploration, avian social systems, and conservation.

Birds of the Carolinas

by Eloise F. Potter, James F. Parnell, and Robert P. Teulings

Featuring 338 spectacular color photographs, this introduction to the remarkably diverse bird life of the Carolinas is the only comprehensive guide to birding in the two states. Summarizing the impressive results of field studies made during the past twenty years, its more than four hundred species accounts describe all birds reliably recorded in the Carolinas during the last century. viii + 408 pp., 338 color illus., $14.95

Persons interested in birds are invited to join The American Ornithologists' Union. Dues are $18 per year ($16 for new members); student memberships are $14 ($12 for new members). All members receive THE AUK. Subscription price to institutions and nonmembers is $20. For single copies and back issues write the Treasurer. A Life Membership is $480, paid in one lump sum or in four installments of $120. Any person may become a Patron with a gift or bequest of $1,000, or a Benefactor with a gift or bequest of $10,000. The names of Patrons and Benefactors are inscribed in perpetuity in the records. Contributions to the A.O.U. are tax deductible.

Send requests for information concerning membership, advertising, subscriptions, or back issues to the Treasurer. Information on or orders for ORNITHOLOGICAL MONOGRAPHS and other special publications may be obtained from Glen E. Woolfenden, Assistant to the Treasurer A.O.U., Department of Biology, University of South Florida, Tampa, Florida 33620. Communications may also be routed through the Union's permanent address: National Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. 20560.

Send change of address, payment of dues, or requests for undelivered issues of THE AUK to Sandra L. L. Gaunt, Director, Ornithological Societies of North America, Box 21160, Columbus, Ohio 43221.
