AN APPEAL

Bird-Banding is in need of financial assistance. Unless its funds are materially increased, it will be necessary to reduce its size. This will be very regrettable, because it is evident that it is coming to fill an important place in ornithological literature. Members of the Bird-Banding Associations, and others interested in the work we are doing, are urged to send at once to the Treasurer of the Northeastern Bird-Banding Association subscriptions as large as they feel they can afford, in order that we may keep our journal functioning properly. Our hope is that some one or more of you may give us a really substantial sum, but any gift however small; will be gratefully received.
