INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS, ARTISTS, PHOTOGRAPHERS

AMERICAN BIRDS welcomes the submission of articles and photographs for publication.

Our major areas of interest are the changing distribution, population, migration, and rare occurrence of the avifauna of North and South America, including Middle America and the West Indies. We solicit articles on problems in field identification, in our "Site Guide" series of birding locales, in our "Centers of Learning" series that profiles institutions concerned with ornithology.

ARTISTS AND PHOTOGRAPHERS—AMERICAN BIRDS is now able to publish more pages of illustrative material, both in color and black-and-white. We welcome submission of photographic essays or series of topical interest, high quality single photographs of significance, transparencies of paintings in color, as well as line or wash drawings that can be used in an illustrative or even decorative manner. We would like to hear from (with a sample or two) artists who might be willing to illustrate articles for us. As usual, documentary photographs will be used, when space permits, in our Changing Seasons and Regional Report sections.

For a "Work in Progress" column, we welcome notices of research projects seeking field reports or other collaboration; we publish advance notices of important conventions, meetings, symposia, seminars, and conferences.

All submissions will be carefully considered, but authors considering major submissions should correspond with the editors first. AMERICAN BIRDS publishes papers of a technical nature but only when written in a less-than-technical, easily readable style: i.e., no complicated equations, lengthy tables, or complex graphs. Major articles should be limited to 3000 words; exceptions may be agreed upon after consultation. All material submitted should be original, and previously unpublished. Manuscripts should follow accepted rules of format and style, be typewritten, double-spaced, on white paper, with generous margins. Photographs should be glossy black-and-white or transparencies, clearly marked with author's name and address. We require the original typescript and one carbon copy. All manuscripts will be acknowledged, but authors must recognize that a backlog exists which may entail delayed publication after acceptance. Manuscripts are refereed before acceptance.

For further information address the editors at the American Birds offices, 950 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022. Telephone: 212-546-9189.

At Peregrine, we strive to combine many birds, beautiful surroundings and congenial company to create the ideal birding tour. Our trips are led by full-time leaders with years of experience in bird identification and natural history, all of whom love to share their enthusiasm and knowledge. Perhaps the best measure of a tour company's success is its rate of returning participants. We are proud that better than 80 percent of our clients return. Some have taken as many as ten trips! Perhaps, it is because of what we offer in addition to birding expertise.
