

Regional Reports Pictorial Highlights Winter 1986–1987

Female Brewer's Blackbird at Victoriaville, Quebec, in the winter of 1986–1987. Photo/J. Paquin.

Chestnut-sided Warbler at Jacksonville, Florida, December 26, 1986. Photo/James Ollmann.

Male Indigo Bunting beginning molt into breeding plumage at Birch Beach, Ontario, February 14, 1987. Photo/W. Zarowski.

Immature White Ibis on the Roanoke River in Salem, Virginia, January 17, 1987. Photo/Barry Kinzie.

Yellow-billed Loon at Rock Falls, Illinois, December 23, 1986. First Illinois state record. The transverse pale markings on the back indicate that this is a first-winter bird. Photo/Joe B. Milosevich.

Curve-billed Thrasher at Spencer, Wisconsin, January 1987. Second Wisconsin record. Photo/Alvin Gauger.

Male Black-throated Blue Warbler at Terre Haute, Indiana, January 1 1987. Photo/Michael Ray Brown.

Ross' Gull at Yaquina Bay, Oregon, February 20, 1987. Note the gray wing linings and the very short bill. Photo/Bob O'Brien.

Scissor-tailed Flycatcher at Point Reyes, California, February 7, 1987. First winter record for northern California. Photo/Peter LaTourette.

Harris' Hawk at Muskogee, Oklahoma, December 5, 1986. Photo/Jeri McMahon.

Hammond's Flycatcher in Bastrop County, Texas, February 22, 1987. The small bill and long wingtips were among the characters noted in identifying this first record for eastern Texas. Photo/Greg Lasley.

Western Flycatcher in Santa Barbara, Santa Barbara County, December 7, 1986. This bird was present during the early part of the winter, but disappeared in early January. Photo/Paul E. Lehman.

