

Regional Reports Pictorial Highlights Spring 1987

Spotted Redshank at Cape Hatteras Point, North Carolina, May 15, 1987. The bird is molting into breeding plumage, with much sooty-gray around the head and neck. Photo/Mike Tove.

Key West Quail-Dove on Marathon Key, Florida, April 25, 1987. Photo/Tony Beck.

Curve-billed Thrasher at Twin Falls, Idaho, April 11, 1987. First Idaho record. Photo/C.H. Trost.

Snowy Plover in Fulton County, Illinois, May 11, 1987. Second Illinois record. Photo/Joe Milosevich.

Male Hooded Oriole at Klamath Falls, Oregon, May 2-3, 1987. First for eastern Oregon. Photo/Steve Summers.

Male Great-tailed Grackle at Union Gap, Washington, May 25, 1987. First Washington record. Photo/Jack Whitnall.

Adult Boreal Owl south of Cumbres Pass, Rio Arriba County, New Mexico, April 19, 1987. First record for New Mexico, and a new southward extension from recently discovered sites in Colorado. Photo/J.J. Rawinski.

White-rumped Sandpiper at Many Farms Lake, Arizona, May 24, 1987. Second Arizona record. Photo/Charles Babbitt.

Great Knot at Gambell, St. Lawrence Island, Alaska, June 3, 1987. Photo/Ed Greaves.

Male Costa's Hummingbird at Burnaby, British Columbia, May 31, 1987. Sixth record for British Columbia. Photo/W. Douglas Kragh.

Violet-crowned Hummingbird in Saugus, California, May 26, 1987. Photo/Arnold Small.

Female Blue-winged Warbler at Butterbredt Springs, California, May 30, 1987. Photo/John Wilson.