Western Bird Banding Association

Founded 1925

The 1994 WBBA Annual Meeting will be held on the campus of Southern Oregon State College

in Ashland
16-18 September 1994

The meeting will open on Friday with registration and the WBBA Board of Directors meeting (open to all WBBA members).

Saturday morning will feature bird banding demonstrations at Denman Wildlife Area. The demonstrations are always a great chance to learn new techniques, get new ideas, and update your skills in techniques you use infrequently. Come and share your knowledge with others as well as learning.

Saturday afternoon we'll be back at the College for paper presentations. Come and learn about results from the MAPS program as well as a variety of other interesting topics. The scope of interesting information that can be gathered by marking individual birds is always fascinating.

After a field trip Sunday morning, the meeting will end at noon.

Ashland should be pleasantly warm and dry in mid-September. Convenient accommodations and meals are available on the College campus. The city is located in the foothills of the Siskiyou and Cascade Mountains and is known for its Shakespeare Festival. The Oregon coast, Rogue River, and Crater Lake National Park are nearby, making Ashland an especially desirable location for those with extra time available.

Send your registration in now. For more information, contact Dennis Vroman at 269 Shetland Drive, Grants Pass, OR 97526. Work phone: (503) 476-3830.
