

Sciurus noveboracensis (Gmel.) WATER-THRUSH.

T. V.	GENERAL NOTES.
Jackson Co., Mo.	reported
Salem, Iowa.	4-15-'94
Grinnell, Iowa. rare	one record
Winnebago Co., Ill. common	5-7-'89 4-26-'92 9-12 to 9-20-'93
St. Paul, Minn.	S. R. common
Hamilton Co., O. few	Prof. Kumlein writes from Wisconsin :
Lorain Co., O. rare	"Very common T. V. I am very sure
Portland, Conn. common	they nest in the state sometimes as far south as Manitonoc."

Sciurus motacilla (Vieill.) LOUISIANA WATER THRUSH.

T. V.	GENERAL NOTES.
Salem, Iowa. very rare	I suspect that some have confused this
Grinnell, Iowa. rare	with the two preceding species. "Very Meridian, Wis. common	rare. One May 13, 1893, male. (L.
Hamilton Co., O. rare	4-15-'94 [Kumlein.)
Lorain Co., O. common	5-8-'93 4-21-'94
Green Co., Pa. common
Oswego City, N. Y. abundant
Portland, Conn. not com.

Geothlypis formosa (Wils.) KENTUCKY WARBLER.

Salem, Iowa, S. R. not common.
Hamilton Co., O., S. R. 5-2-'92 4-28-'93.
Lorain Co., O., rare. I have never seen it.
Green Co., Pa., S. R. common.
Berwyn, Pa., S. R. common.
"Very rare in Wisconsin." (L. Kumlein.)

Geothlypis agilis (Wils.) CONNECTICUT WARBLER.

Milton, Wis., T. V. rare.
Hamilton Co., O., one male 5-16-'93.
Berwyn, Pa., T. V. rare. Female 9-19-'93.
Portland, Conn., T. V. rare.

"Of regular occurrence spring and fall. The very last arrival in spring. June 1 is the regular date to look for them. Found nesting once in Jefferson Co." (L. Kumlein.) It frequents tangled undergrowth.